Beretta, the oldest known firearm manufacturer in the world, is renowned for producing superb and dependable hunting equipment. This company has been in continuous production, for over 200 years and it has been making the best sports guns for more than 50 years. The best way to hunt, of course, is with a shotgun, and Beretta has been making great over and under shotguns for more than 50 years. Beretta is the undisputed leader in the small bore field. No other brand offers as complete a lineup of guns. It's time, once again, for me to make a prognostication! This time I'm trying to predict the Nobel Prize winners. I have always tried to go too far in this game. In previous years I have tried to do it three years in advance. I think it's best to wait for some scandals in the different fields. There is one scandal already, so it's not too far off. It's this time when I'm going to be proved wrong! I know it's easy to have a look at the year list and to look at the Nobel Prizes that are announced from there and say "see, I got it right." So this is what I'm doing! I'm going to have a look at the Nobel Prizes for Physiology or Medicine and also for Chemistry and then I'm going to say: "who do I think will win?" and I'll put my thoughts down here for you to read and then you'll be able to tell me whether I did it right or not. There are 13, and I'm not going to count the peace award this year. I might do that next year, because it's so obvious that peace doesn't go together with anything. I believe, as I already stated, that this year's scandal will be in Chemistry. It seems that this is the one that is just behind in getting the scandals going. I'm not going to put any money on it, because it's even possible that I will be proved wrong. It looks a bit unlikely, but it is of course possible. The one that is right in my guessing is that there will be a Nobel Prize in Physics. I'm not sure I'm right in this one. I'm more inclined
