May 17, 2021 - Click on the appropriate contract number. Serial numbers and product keys are in the Serial/Key column for each product in your subscription ... The serial number is a unique identification number for any product and can be tracked in your License Management profile or Software Controllers. Product keys are a digital reference or link to the software that you can obtain from your support provider. Product keys contain the serial number in the format in which it was defined, and you need to use it to activate the product. This may be useful
