useful links above link goes to's wiki downgraded to a version below ios 6.1.6 download the on cydia. it patches the heartbleed vulnerability. that's a usefull little trick for every iphone 3gs and ipad 1 owner. or everybody with a newer device still rockin' ios 6 or 5. i've found a way to get the legacy version of the app to login again, so far it appears to be working like a charm. it's fairly easy too: requirements: a) you need the ipa file of any compatibile version. installed on an iphone 3gs and not updated to ios 6.1.6 the application is not compatible with this version of the iphone and should be updated to the latest version. the version of the application installed on an iphone 3gs from the application store is compatible with ios 6.5, so there is no need to update the application itself. in fact, because it is not compatible with ios 6.6, it is better not to update it. unfortunately it has been downgraded to version 3.6.7, but it should work just fine without problems. it's not the first time that google duo needs to be downgraded to a different version of ios. below are the steps to downgrade it to ios 6.5: installed on an iphone 3gs and not updated to ios 6.6 click on the button download, and save the file to your desktop. once the download is complete, drag the file onto your iphone 3gs, and tap on install, it will remove the application, reboot your iphone 3gs, and install the application again. after it is installed, open the application store of your iphone 3gs and search for google duo. tap on install, and the application will be installed and will appear in the app store, after the update, you must update to ios 6.1.5. google duo is not compatible with ios 6.6, so it is best to update to the previous version 5ec8ef588b
